DETAILED ACTION

1. The Amendment filed by Applicant on 08/02/2010 has been entered.

2. The Amendment filed by Applicant on 10/01/2010 has been entered.

Response to Amendment/Arguments

3. Applicant's amendment and arguments filed on 08/02/2010 have been fully considered and they are found unpersuasive.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35

Art Unit: 1762

U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

6. Claims 1-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Obie et al., WO 01/35719 (hereinafter "Obie") in view of Payne, Organic Coating Technology, vol. 1, page 240 (hereinafter "Payne"). Obie teaches a wood stain formulation comprising carboxy methyl cellulose butyrate acetate in water and an organic solvent, butyl benzyl phthalate, surfactants, acrylates and pigments and extenders such as titanium dioxide and calcium carbonate are explicitly disclosed as additives to the formulation. See Obie, page 13, line 19, page 14, lines 1-13, page 9, lines 6-29. Obie further teaches adding silica to the composition. See Obie, page 13, line 5. Obie fails to teach an alkaline earth metal salt of an aliphatic fatty acid. Payne teaches in analogous art metallic soaps as flattening agents. In recently decided KSR Int'l Co. v. Teleflex, Inc., the Supreme Court unanimously stated "the combination of familiar elements according to known methods is likely to be obvious when it does no more than yield predictable result." In view of Payne, one having an ordinary skill in the art would be motivated to modify Obie by using a metallic soaps as flattening agents because both references are directed at coating composition with a flattening agent.

7. The Applicants argue the current invention has unpredictable advantages over the prior art. First, the Applicants argue the present claimed compositions are suitable for application to PE, metal and composite structures. The suitable, unclaimed substrates are not unobtainable or taught away in the prior art references. There is no evidence (since the substrates are not claimed, there is onus on the Examiner) that a combination of Obie and Payne would not adhere to some of the substrates. In addition, the current specification teaches a dispersion and primer composition, which is necessary to prepare the dispersion for adhesion. Furthermore, Obie teaches adhesion to substrates other than wood such as tape and nickel.

8. Second, the Applicant argues, though not claimed, excellent adhesion and fielding properties. The present invention does not provide cogent data as to why the adhesion properties are unpredictable. There is no comparative data typifying the absence of the important limitations and commonly used limitations.

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

10. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

11. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Robert D. Harlan whose telephone number is (571) 272-1102. The examiner can normally be reached on Mon-Thu, 10 AM - 8 PM.
